Our Specialist

Scott Earrey joined McTear Williams & Wood as a Manager in 2020. He is an experienced adviser to individuals encountering financial difficulties with over 25 years' experience dealing with all types and sizes of cases providing creative insolvency advice.

In particular Scott specialises in dealing with complex individual voluntary arrangements and bankruptcies providing bespoke solutions, in marked contrast to the one size fits all that dominates the personal insolvency sector.

The majority of Scott's career has been spent in East Anglia in Ipswich, Norwich and Cambridge.

How we can help you

Personal financial difficulties can quickly become overwhelming. We understand those pressures and can help navigate the best course to address these. We never judge but offer impartial, independent and completely confidential advice.

Our focus is on advising company directors and individuals with complex financial affairs who face personal financial difficulties often arising from failed business activities.

Personal insolvency does not have to result in bankruptcy. With early intervention and professional advice finances can be restructured and creditor pressure can be managed. Whatever the issue rest assured we can:

- Help you to understand the most realistic, viable and appropriate options
- Carry out an assessment of your individual circumstances
- Provide solutions to relieve the stress
- Provide a sympathetic and sensitive approach
- Provide free initial impartial advice
- Advise you on the different types of personal insolvency processes
- Align personal financial advice with your business's financial situation to assess the bigger picture.
